ABOUT ME

I am an honored computer engineering senior student with an applied data analytics minor in TED University. My computer engineering degree combined with hard work and experience provided me with a great foundation of knowledge and skills. I am a motivated self-learner who looks forward to acquire new qualifications and improve himself. I love spending my time learning new technologies. Besides that, I am a confident person with high energy and a lot of ambition to succeed. I am a great communicator and enjoy being in a team.
